WHEREFORE, IT APPEARING that:

1. The discoverable materials in this matter include voluminous amounts of documents and evidence that will be made available for inspection and discovery.

2. Each defense counsel will need additional time to review the discovery in this matter and to prepare motions for filing with the Court.

3. The case is in its pretrial discovery phase is so unusual and complex because of the number of defendants and the nature of the prosecution that it is unreasonable to expect adequate preparation for pretrial proceedings and for the trial itself within the time limits established by 18 U.S.C. § 3161, the Speedy Trial Act. 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(8)(B)(ii).

4. Plea negotiations are currently in progress with counsel for each defendant, and both the United States and the defendants desire additional time to complete their discussions. A plea in this matter would render any trial of this matter unnecessary.

5. Counsel for each defendant has consented to this continuance.

6. The failure to grant such a continuance in the proceedings would be likely to result in a miscarriage of justice. 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(8)(B)(i).

7. The ends of justice served by granting a continuance of the trial date outweigh the best interest of the public and each defendant in a speedy trial. 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(8)(A).
